

Sussex nature illustrated cards by Benjamin Fallow

Emma Chaplin, 09 December 2024

‘I hope people will see my artwork and remember to care for nature!’

We are very grateful to 11 year old Benjamin Fallow, who is selling cards and prints of his artwork in his Etsy shop, to raise money for charity.

All the proceeds are divided between four environmental charities, with 25% going towards the Sussex Wildlife Trust.

Benji draws and paints from nature, and loves to draw out in the countryside - his mum Nish tells us 'He’s been carrying paper and pens in his backpack since he was three!'

He’s passionate about protecting nature, and he hopes his artwork will encourage people to care for wildlife.

All the artwork was made by Benji between the ages of 5 and 10.

Nish helps Benji to run the shop. The cards are art print quality, and look great in a frame as a small print. They’re made with quality eco papers and ink, with all recycled and compostable packaging.

Buy them here

See more of Benji's wildlife posts on Bluesky

Thank you. Your comment has been submitted and will appear on the site once approved.

Comments

Phillippa:

Benji is so talented and what a great initiative. I've ordered several having spotted this post on Facebook on my commute.

11 Dec 2024 07:11:00

Sussex Wildlife Trust:
Thank you so much!

Susie Hunting:

Hi Benji I love your work and would love to buy some things from you, so you can continue to support your Sussex Wilflife!!

11 Dec 2024 19:21:00

What we do

- Environmental Education
- Nature's Recovery
- Current issues
- Projects

Support us

- Become a Member
- Make a donation
- Support an appeal
- Give In Memory

Visit

- Woods Mill
- Rye Harbour
- Ditchling Beacon
- Ebernoe Common

Get involved

- Become a Member
- Make a donation
- Support an appeal
- Give In Memory

Get in touch »

Woods Mill,
Henfield,
West Sussex,
BN5 9SD