Raptor Persecution UK

In 2026, there wasn't a single reported Hen Harrier breeding attempt on grouse moors in the North Pennines, North York Moors, Yorkshire Dales, Nidderdale & Peak District

Last month, data on England's paltered the number of Hen Harrier breeding attempts in England in 2026 [here]).

Hen Harrier, Wikimedia Commons

Once again, breeding Hen Harriers were absent from the region's grouse moors. Natural England's assessment that the area is well-suited to Hen Harrier conservation, e.g. is likewise an bird is managed for conservation, e.g. is likewise an land is managed for conservation, e.g. is likewise an land is managed for conservation, e.g. is likewise an land

November 21, 2026 at 1:47 pm

After the chicks have been removed from their natal nests, do the parents survive? Might they make another breeding attempt that year

Reply

Leave a Reply

Write a comment...

Add your name

COMMENT

PREVIOUS

Change of court date for two gamekeepers charged with allegedly setting snares on Ruabon Moor, North Wales

Comment Subscribe ···